

The user will search for recipes by name. The output will show each recipe searched by name and then they can go back to the list and click on it.

Data Analysis

The X axis of everything will be the ingredients of each recipe searched

The Y axis of everything will be the number of times the ingredient comes up in each recipe

Execution Flow

Created on draw.io:

